

Langtang Helicopter Tour: A Comprehensive Itinerary

All the tours to Langtang by helicopter are scheduled in the early morning as visibility among the mountain range is clearer in the day prior to noon time. An early morning helicopter tour to Langtang assists in preventing the clouds from drifting into Langtang Valley.

6:15 AM: Hotel to Tribhuvan International Airport

Our agent will pick up your hotel very early in the morning by private car and transfer you to the Tribhuvan International airport. The helicopter departs for Langtang valley from the domestic airport. You can take the international terminal after a walk of just 10 minutes from the domestic terminal.

7:15 AM: Takeoff Preparations

At your departure time, approach your departure gate, have your ticket and passport ready and be prepared to have some of our staff members to help you out with the check in and luggage handling. Once you arrive at the main lounge you can expect a queue to obtain your boarding pass after undergoing security clearance. Passengers will be notified about the precise take-off time before they even reach the helipad by the airlines. A safety briefing will be given by the captain prior to the takeoff of the helicopter. The crew members will await authorization from the tower before advancing. Passengers will be educated on how to use the helicopter doors for safely getting in and out of the helicopter.

7:30 AM: Flight Departs to Langtang

Our Langtang Helicopter Tour begins after you board the helicopter, then you will begin to proceed towards the Langtang valley. You can experience the gorgeous view of Kathmandu as your aircraft begins to rise above the valley. From the altitude, Kathmandu, a city which is known for the colorful streets, is enclosed by green hills. The Himalayan range peaks of Tibet and Nepal can be witnessed as we approach the Langtang Valley from Kathmandu valley.

Jugal Himal, Shishapangma, Paldor peak, Dorje lakpa, Ghandak, Ganesh Himal, Singhri Himal, and Langtang Lirung amongst the numerous other Himalayan peaks can be clearly spotted.

8:00 AM: Arrival at Kyanjing Gompa

We will land at the village, named Kyanjing Gompa, after the Buddhist monastery. You will be in an old Tamang settlement called Kyanjing Gompa, within Langtang National Park known for its biological diversity. There are the snow-covered peaks and glaciers of the Himalayas, as well as the company established over seventy years ago by a Swiss geologist called Toni Hagen. This establishment represents the original yak cheese factory in Nepal. Snap your pictures, discover the site, but know the helicopter won't stay long as it's problematic to stay at such altitude.

8:30 AM: Flight Back to Kathmandu

After your exploration of Kyanjing Gumpa, you'll make your way back to Kathmandu. As you drive back to Kathmandu, enjoy breathtaking views of the Langtang Valley, Gosaikunda Lake, and various villages that dot the Tamang Heritage Trail. You'll be picked up from the Kathmandu airport and taken to the accommodation and city that you wish for as soon as you land.
